The Residence

Immerse yourself in Athens' contemporary vibe at this historic building in the city center, originally built in 1939 by Andrianos Lazarimos. While once used as residences until 2012, it now offers the perfect setting to experience Athens' unique atmosphere.

The building's façade reflects the architectural style of 1930s Athens, featuring symmetrical erkens and chased cement facing known as Artificiel. It embodies both the grandeur of the Athenian bourgeoisie and the design principles of the interwar international style, with a dual nature evident in its contrasting front and rear elevations along Kriezotou Street.

Situated between Syntagma Square and Kolonaki, this location offers proximity to Athens' vibrant scene, including avant-garde galleries, cafes, and boutiques.

Plaka, known for its picturesque streets, is also nearby, providing easy access to the Acropolis for those seeking a step back in time.

Location

Located in Zalokosta pedestrian street in the city's most vibrant neighborhood, surrounded by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, embassies, museums and galleries, like the Benaki Museum and The Ghika Gallery. It is only a stone's throw away from the Hellenic Parliament, Syntagma Square and Athens National Garden.
